

End User License Agreement - Fury ETC Limited

End User License Agreement (EULA)

Effective Date: June 11, 2024

This End User License Agreement ("Agreement") is between you ("User") and Fury ETC Limited ("Company", "we", "us", or "our") and governs your use of our digital products and services.

1. Licensed Content

Upon purchase, we grant you a limited, non-transferable, non-exclusive license to access and use the following digital content:

- Video course material
- Spreadsheet templates
- PDF guides and resources
- Paid community access via Discord
- Weekly Zoom calls for Q&A and support

2. Permitted Use

The content is licensed solely for the purchaser's personal, non-commercial use. You may view, download, and interact with the materials for your own learning and application.

You are expressly prohibited from:

- Reproducing, sharing, or redistributing the content in any form
- Modifying or creating derivative works from the content

End User License Agreement - Fury ETC Limited

- Publishing content publicly or granting access to others
- Using the materials to create competing products or services

3. Ownership

All materials remain the intellectual property of Fury ETC Limited. No ownership or intellectual property rights are transferred to you under this Agreement.

4. Revocation of License

We reserve the right to revoke your access and terminate this license at any time if:

- You breach any terms of this Agreement
- You engage in unauthorized sharing, copying, or distribution of our content
- You fail to comply with any usage or payment terms outlined in our Terms of Service

5. Payment and Access

License rights are contingent upon full payment. If a user fails to complete the full payment, access and rights to the licensed materials may be suspended or terminated.

In select cases where a significant portion of the payment has been made, continued access may be granted at our sole discretion.

6. No Warranties
