

End User License Agreement (EULA) for Eventry

Last Updated: [08.04.2025]

This End User License Agreement ("EULA") is a legally binding contract between you ("user," "you") and the creators of Eventry ("Eventry," "we," "our"). By installing, accessing, or using the Eventry software ("Software"), you agree to the terms outlined below.

1. License

We give you a personal, non-exclusive, non-transferable, and non-sublicensable right to use the Software for your own private, non-commercial use. This license is subject to the conditions in this agreement.

2. What You Can't Do

- No Reselling: You're not allowed to sell, rent out, share, copy, modify, or redistribute the Software.
- Follow the Law: You agree to use Eventry only in ways that follow the laws in your country and internationally (including EU, US, and UK laws).
- No Ticket Reselling: Eventry is meant to help users—not for mass buying of tickets for resale. Any misuse is completely your responsibility.

3. No Guarantees

The Software is offered "as is." We don't make any promises or guarantees—either clearly stated or implied—about performance, quality, or results.

4. Liability Limit

We're not responsible for any losses, damages, or problems that may result from your use of the Software.

5. Your Responsibility

You alone are responsible for what you do with Eventry. If your actions break any laws or affect others' rights, you agree to protect and not hold us responsible for any claims or damages.

6. Ending Your Access

If you break any rules listed here, your right to use Eventry ends immediately. You must stop using it and delete all copies you may have.

7. Entire Agreement

This EULA is the full agreement between you and Eventry. If any part of it is found invalid, only that part will be changed as needed, and the rest remains in full effect.

8. Legal Jurisdiction

This agreement is governed by the laws of Germany.

By using Eventry, you confirm that you've read, understood, and accepted all parts of this agreement.
