

All sales of digital products, subscriptions, and downloadable content are final.

Because our products are digital in nature, they cannot be returned, exchanged, or refunded once access or delivery has been granted.

By completing your purchase, you acknowledge and agree that:

- • You receive immediate access to the digital content or members' area upon payment.
- • Due to the intangible and irrevocable nature of digital goods, no refunds, returns, or cancellations are permitted once access is provided.
- • It is your responsibility to review all product information and subscription details before making a purchase.

If you experience any issues accessing your digital product or membership, please contact our support team at [your support email], and we'll be happy to assist in resolving any technical or access-related problems.

Thank you for your understanding and support.