

TC888 End User Licence Agreement

Version 17 October 2026

1 Agreement

This EULA governs your agreed use of TC888 materials and tools when validly incorporated into your purchase. Individual agreements, the agreed offer and mandatory law take priority. Accessing a resource alone does not retrospectively replace an existing agreement.

2 Licence and permitted use

Within the agreed scope and access period, TC888 grants you a non-exclusive, non-transferable right to use the supplied materials and tools for your own trading, including professional and prop-firm trading. You may complete and adapt the supplied personal Playbook templates. Sharing paid accounts, redistributing TC888 materials and resale are prohibited without authorisation, except where the law permits them. This does not prevent you from using your own independently developed knowledge, ideas or trading records.

Restrictions on modification, observation, testing, backup, interoperability or reverse engineering apply only to the extent legally permitted; mandatory statutory rights remain unaffected.

3 Intellectual property

TC888 and its licensors retain their respective rights in supplied materials. Your own submissions remain yours. Any right needed to process submissions for the agreed service is limited to that purpose and the disclosed arrangements. Public or promotional use requires separate rights clearance.

4 Conduct

Use the service lawfully and do not infringe others' rights, interfere with security, or harass other participants. Community rules must be made available and applied proportionately.

5 Accounts

Protect your credentials and promptly report suspected unauthorised access. Responsibility for unauthorised activity follows applicable law; you are not automatically liable for every event associated with your account.

6 Updates and changes

Updates and changes must comply with the agreed service and applicable law, including mandatory digital-product rights. A technical update does not authorise an unrestricted reduction in paid functionality or a price change. Changes beyond those needed to maintain conformity require the contractual basis, valid reason, information and other safeguards required by applicable law.

7 Ending access and the licence

Licence and access duration follow the purchased offer and mandatory law. Deleting software or ceasing use does not itself cancel a recurring subscription. Existing trial, billing, renewal and cancellation arrangements continue. No new automatic-expiry rule or calendar activation deadline is introduced for PRO. Current Platinum and mentoring retain included PRO for their agreed access periods. Existing purchased benefits and any more favourable individual rights remain protected.

After ordinary expiry of a paid subscription period, you may retain and personally use the downloaded Playbook resources and your completed Playbook. Continued hosted course or tool access is not included. Private mentoring recordings follow the informed personal replay arrangement and the Service Privacy Notice, with a maximum of twenty-four months after mentoring ends, subject to applicable rights and existing promises of longer access; the personal-session buffer does not extend other bundled services.

For breaches, protective measures and termination must be justified and proportionate, with notice and an opportunity to remedy where legally required. Urgent statutory grounds remain available. Statutory remedies and any continuing rights to legitimately downloaded material remain unaffected.

After a voluntary Premium or Platinum refund under the new promise, access supplied by that purchase ends, including any promotional PRO access linked to a refunded Premium purchase before its two-month period finishes. Any unused promotional activation entitlement also ends; separately purchased subscriptions are unaffected. You may keep and use your own notes, trading records and completed personal Playbook, including TC888 template elements incorporated into it. You need not extract your entries from the mixed document. Permission to use separate TC888 lesson files, guides and unused templates ends with that refunded purchase, and those separate copies should be deleted subject to mandatory rights. No sharing or resale of TC888 material is authorised.

These voluntary-refund arrangements do not restrict statutory withdrawal, defect remedies or more favourable individual agreements.

8 Defects and warranties

Statutory rights regarding defects, conformity, updates and non-performance remain unaffected. Describing a tool as educational or experimental does not exclude those rights. No trading result is guaranteed unless expressly agreed in a binding guarantee.

9 Liability

Liability is governed by applicable law. This EULA does not exclude mandatory liability or statutory remedies.

10 Third party claims

Responsibility for third-party claims is governed by applicable law. This EULA does not require you to indemnify TC888 for every claim connected with your use regardless of fault or TC888's own responsibility.

11 Governing law

German law applies subject to mandatory consumer protection that remains applicable under the relevant conflict-of-laws rules. Statutory jurisdiction and access to courts remain unaffected.

12 Disputes

No mandatory pre-dispute consumer arbitration clause is imposed by this EULA. Any applicable consumer dispute information is stated consistently in the canonical purchase terms.

13 Relationship with other agreements

This EULA supplements the validly agreed purchase documents for licensing matters. It does not supersede individual agreements, remove existing customer rights or permit unilateral amendment through publication. Version: 17 October 2026. This edition applies only when validly incorporated into the relevant purchase.

14 Contact

TC888 GmbH, Reitmorstr. 2, 80538 München, Germany. Managing Director: Matthias Bentenrieder. Amtsgericht München, HRB 298586. VAT ID DE452024184. Email tc@tc888.de; phone +49 179 6961190.