End User Licence Agreement

Applies to the delivered files · version 1.2

Warranty, liability, ending the licence and support. What you may do with the model is in the Terms of Service.

Coverage

This applies to the delivered model, its runtime files and anything else in the delivery, and to anyone who later holds them with my permission. Using them means you accept it.

Your rights

Usage, credit, ownership and transfers are set out in section 2 of the Terms of Service, which forms part of this licence. Nothing here widens or narrows them.

Warranty and liability

- The model is delivered working in VTube Studio, as-is.
- No warranty that it suits a particular purpose or another program.
- I'm not responsible for third-party updates that break something after delivery.
- I'm not liable for indirect or consequential loss from using or misusing the model, and you cover claims that arise from your use of it.
- Your consumer-law rights are unaffected.

Ending the licence

- Breaking these terms ends it, for example by redistributing the files or claiming the work as your own.
- Stop using the model and delete every copy. No refund.
- The sections on rights, warranty and liability survive.

Support

Minor revisions are included within two weeks of delivery. This isn't ongoing technical support for your streaming setup.

Acceptance

Using the model confirms that you have read and accept this licence, together with the Terms of Service.
