Subject to your compliance with this EULA, SnapFrame grants you a personal, non-exclusive, non-transferable, revocable license to install and use one copy of the SnapFrame Chrome Extension on devices associated with your Google Chrome profile, solely for your personal or internal business purposes.

4. Pro License Activation

Pro features require activation using a valid license key issued by SnapFrame. You are responsible for keeping your license key confidential. Each license key may be activated on a maximum of two (2) devices. SnapFrame reserves the right to revoke a license key if misuse or unauthorized sharing is detected.

5. Lifetime License Terms

"Lifetime" refers to the commercially supported lifetime of the SnapFrame product. SnapFrame makes no guarantee that the product will be maintained indefinitely. In the event that SnapFrame discontinues the product, Lifetime License holders will receive no less than 90 days advance notice.

6. Updates

SnapFrame may release updates, patches, or new versions of the Extension from time to time. Updates distributed through the Chrome Web Store are subject to this EULA. For developer mode installs, updated files will be delivered by email.

7. Telemetry & Data

The Extension does not collect browsing data or screenshots. License verification involves transmitting only your license key and a device instance ID to our payment provider's API. See our Privacy Policy at snapframe.co/privacy for full details.

8. Termination

This EULA is effective until terminated. Your rights under this license will terminate automatically if you violate any of its terms.
