

Terms of Service

AdaptAlgo

AdaptAlgo, along with all other indicators and strategies we develop and provide, is created solely for educational and informational purposes. We are not financial advisors and nothing we share should be interpreted as financial, investment or trading advice.

We make no guarantees of success, profit or performance when using our tools. Trading and investing involve substantial risk and you are fully responsible for your own financial decisions and outcomes. By using our indicators and strategies you acknowledge that you understand and accept these risks.

Limitations of Liability

We are not responsible or liable for:

- Any financial losses you may incur while using our tools
- Any technical issues, malfunctions or errors that may occur
- Any trading decisions you make based on our indicators or strategies

Markets & Settings

Our indicators and strategies have been primarily developed and tested on the Bitcoin chart using 15-minute to 1-day timeframes. We do not guarantee that they will perform the same way on other assets or markets. If you choose to use them on different assets you must adjust the settings accordingly to fit the specific characteristics of that market.

Originality

Any resemblance to other tools is coincidental or may have been inspired in part by existing ideas but our work remains original.

Changes and Updates

We reserve the right to change pricing at any time and to modify, improve or update our indicators and strategies whenever we deem necessary.

Agreement

By purchasing, downloading or using AdaptAlgo or any of our related products you agree to this disclaimer and accept full responsibility for all trading activities carried out with them.

For questions regarding these terms, contact: adaptalgo@gmail.com