04

Technical information

Security, cookie and website-operation data needed to run and protect the service.

How information is used

Information is used to process orders, verify payments, activate TradingView access, provide support, prevent fraud, maintain security, comply with legal obligations and improve website reliability.

Processing grounds

Depending on the activity and applicable law, processing may be necessary to perform a contract, comply with legal obligations, protect legitimate interests such as fraud prevention and security, or rely on consent where consent is required.

Payment information

Card information is entered into and processed by the selected payment provider and is not stored by AGProLabs. Crypto transactions are recorded on the relevant public blockchain. Bank transfer records may contain sender and reference information.

Service providers

Information may be processed by hosting, ecommerce, payment, fraud-prevention, security, analytics and communication providers only as reasonably necessary to provide and protect the service.

International processing

Some independent service providers may operate in other countries. Where applicable, information is handled according to

Cookies

The website may use essential ecommerce and security cookies. Non-essential analytics or similar technologies should be used only where the legal requirements and safeguards relevant to the transaction and provider.

the required choice or consent mechanism applies.

Retention

Information is retained only for as long as reasonably needed for orders, access administration, support, fraud prevention, dispute handling and legal or accounting obligations. Retention periods can vary by record type and applicable law.

Your privacy rights

Depending on applicable law, you may request information about processing and ask for access, correction, deletion or other eligible action. Some records may need to be retained where a legal obligation or valid exception applies.

Security

Reasonable administrative and technical measures are used to protect information. No internet service can guarantee absolute security. Never send passwords, full card numbers, wallet seed phrases or private keys.

Policy updates

This policy may be updated when services, providers or legal requirements change. The current version and update date will remain available on this page.
