

Diamond Trading – Privacy Policy

Diamond Trading is committed to protecting your privacy. This Privacy Policy explains how we collect, use, and safeguard your information when you access or use our services.

Information We Collect

We may collect personal information such as name, email address, billing details, usage data, and communications provided by you.

How We Use Information

Information is used to operate services, process payments, communicate updates, and improve user experience. We do not sell or rent personal data.

Third-Party Services

Limited information may be shared with trusted third-party providers strictly for service operation purposes.

Data Security

We implement reasonable safeguards to protect personal information but cannot guarantee absolute security.

Age Requirement

Our services are intended for individuals 18 years of age or older.

By using Diamond Trading services, you acknowledge that you have read and agreed to this Privacy Policy in full.